Dr. Donald G. Decker, director of instruction

To you, Dr. Decker, we, the students of Colorado State College, dedicate the 1958 Cache la Poudre because of your never-ending patience and kindness with us, as well as your outstanding contributions to the field of education and our college.

A handy man around the house, Dr. Decker assists Mrs. Decker in some "woolgathering."

"... author of many elementary and junior high science texts ..."

Dedication

Dr. Decker is director of the Department of Instruction and of the CSC summer session. He is a professor of science and chairman of the program planning committee of the National Science Teachers' Association.

He has written extensively in the field of science education and is author of many elementary and junior high science text books and film strips. He also writes for several professional education magazines in his field.

He received his Master of Arts degree from Colorado State College in 1937. His Doctor of Philosophy degree was conferred by Columbia University in 1943, and in 1953 the honorary degree of Doctor of Science in Education was given him by the Michigan State Normal College.

Dr. Decker has had broad experience in the field of practical science. He was among the selected few scientists who worked on the Manhattan Project at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, during World War II, on the development of atomic weapons. He has come up in the field of education at CSC, where he began as a teacher on the fifth-grade level. He was advanced to junior high, then high school, and finally to the science department of the college, of which he became chairman. He held this post until becoming Director of Instruction in 1955.

Student Government

"To meet or not to meet on New Year's Eve . . ." It seemed like a pretty dreary prospect to welcome in 1958 by parliamentary procedure, so the Student Council instead threw a party for the disgruntled early-returning student body. Spirits were raised and good will restored as students consumed potato chips and sang Auld Lang Syne. This year, the Council discussed plans for the new Student Union building, and the problem of opening the library for study on Sundays, as well as taking a stand against segregation. Movies sponsored by the Council were received with enthusiasm by the student body. Keeping in touch with all aspects of college life, the Council visited various Greek houses and held a meeting at Dr. Ross's home.

Associated Students :: Student Union
Office of the President

President and Staff

Members of the Associated Students,

I am very happy to have this opportunity to personally thank you for your excellent cooperation and support throughout the past year. The privilege of serving as your president is an experience which I will always remember and cherish.

On behalf of Student Council, I would like to express their appreciation for the faith you entrusted in them.

I wish each of you continued success in your future endeavors and a lifetime of happiness.

Sincerely,

Gerald E. Tanner

Cache la Poudre Staff

In the Upper Room—otherwise known as the nerve-center of college journalism—this staff of stair-hopping Spartans milled, toiled, and meditated in the process of turning out this edition of the Cache la Poudre. Apples were polished by these foresighted book-makers, as they included the faces of the faculty in the annual for the first time in several years. Working far into the night, they ran up the college electric bill burning the midnight bulb, and wore several miles of blue pencils down to shavings. This booming enterprise kept up on progress through expansion by moving its messier aspects into the upper council room. Paste-ups, layout, and other space-consuming busywork was accomplished there. By the end of the year, the entire staff sported stylish plaid eyes from looking at orange-lined layout paper.

Mirror

Staff

Meanwhile, back under the stairs, the bright-eyed Mirror staff sallied forth to collect notes, news, and pix for their weekly twelve-page spread. Headed by the Rood One, these harried journalists could usually be found buried neck-deep in various bits of printer's devilry, from copy to cut-lines to crushing hisses of the Steam Valve. What with writing, typing, running down stories, and inventing new short words to make headlines fit their spaces, they hardly ever found time to look at their big, shiny new clock! Whew-type noises issued from the parched throats of the busy boys as each week's deadline was met, and between then and time to start the next week's rat race, relaxation and excitement were provided by typing-chair races with the Cache la Poudre staff.

"Yes . . . it will be in this week's issue."

Tau Kappa Epsilon's Ray Binkley appears in Who's Who for the second year. Ray started in with a bang as a cheerleader and as Freshman Ball king in his first year of college. He was sophomore class president and a member of IK, and received the Gold Key award. A member of Blue Key, Ray has served as the group's president. He has been chairman of Publications and Homecoming chairman, and is a member of Kappa Delta Pi and Phi Delta Kappa.

Vivacious Sally Cope has been a Homecoming queen attendant, and a candidate for Blue Key Sweetheart. She is a member of Lambda Sigma Tau, and received the Freshman chemistry award. Pi Lambda Theta awards went to Sally in her freshman and sophomore years, and she is now a member of that group. She was selected Spur-of-the-Moment in her sophomore year, and has demonstrated her musical ability as an outstanding member of Marching and Concert Bands and orchestra. Sally has received Panhellenic and AAUW scholarships, and has served as secretary of Pi Kappa Sigma sorority.

A fellow of many talents, Ernie Delgado made the Who's Who roster for the second year. Besides earning a top-notch grade average, he served in IK, C Club, Blue Key, Industrial Arts Club, and was Spanish Club president. His academic achievements, paid his membership in Delta Phi Delta, Phi Sigma Iota, and Phi Delta Kappa. Ernie's name was also to be found on the President's Honor List.

Ken Dillner marched his way to the top as Best Gadel in ROTC and as a member of Arnold Air Society. As president of Choral-Aires, he was a good administrator as well as a fine vocalist. He has participated in Hells-abruin and Homecoming activities as well as intramural sports, and has been a member of Interfraternity Council. Besides being secretary and president of Accacia fraternity, Ken also learned all about food and things as fraternity kitchen manager.

Talented Colleen Estes has made a name for herself in the Little Theatre of the Rockies, and is a member of Alpha Psi Omega drama fraternity. She has served in various capacities on Student Council, and was secretary of her freshman class. She is a member of Pi Lambda Theta, and has received two awards from that group. Colleen received the Panhellenic scholarship in 1956 and a Little Theatre tuition scholarship for the summer of 1957. She has held the office of historian in Pi Kappa Sigma sorority.

As business manager of Associated Students this year, John Geron has been a one-man Watch and Ward Society over the student bank. He has been a member of Phi Theta Kappa junior college honorary and Pi Omega Pi, honorary business education fraternity. He is currently president of the Distributive Education Club.

Who's Who

A contributing finger in many a campus pie, this past Home Ec club president turned out to be a batch of success. Glenyce Goodbody presided over another top-notch group, Pi Lambda Theta. Delegate to the national conventions of these two groups, Glenyce served the Kappa Delta Pi group as treasurer. Finding time to serve in Delta Phi Delta, on Homecoming committee, this active gal was also historian for Gold Key. With such scholastic and service achievements, Glenyce truly belongs with the group of the selected few.

In recognition of her scholastic achievement, Allice Heintz received the Panhellenic sophomore scholarship award and the WRHC scholarship trophy, and has been included on the President's honor list. She is a student dorm director and is treasurer of Women's Residence Hall Council. She has served as corresponding secretary of Alpha Sigma Alpha. She has been a Spur and a member of Pi Lambda Theta, and has untangled the confusion of campus newcomers as an orientation leader. She has served on AWS Council and the Student Union Board.

Lurly Hunsberger was named among the ten outstanding women in her freshman, sophomore, and junior years, has been on the President's honor list for three years, and is listed in Who's Who for the second year. She has held offices in AWS, Student Council, Pi Lambda Theta, and Gold Key. As a member of Phi Sigma Iota language fraternity, she served in the capacity of president. A member of Alpha Sigma Alpha, Lurly was chosen Blue Key sweetheart and is an honorary member of that group. As a sophomore, she received the Panhellenic Scholarship award, and has also received the WRHC scholarship trophy.

Leeds Lucy was a leader. On the football field he made the Rocky Mountain Conference Team, and on the campus he served as student body Vice-President. Besides belonging to C Club and serving on the Student Council, Leeds was chosen for Blue Key, Chairman of the Activities Committee, and was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity.

Up for Who's Who for her second year is Maile Lovell. Hailing from Honolulu, Maile has been secretary of the Hawaiian club, and was named the Outstanding Hawaiian Student by Alpha Phi Omega. She has exercised her teaching ability as an orientation leader and as Pledge Trainer for Alpha Sigma Alpha, of which she has also been president. She has been active on AWS and WRHC councils, and was a dormitory president for two years. Maile was chosen Outstanding Junior Woman by Blue Key. She has served on Panhellenic council and the Homecoming steering committee, and as secretary of the Women's Athletic Association.

This versatile and talented Blue Key marched through four years of success at CSC. For two years, Bob McKee led the marching band as drum major, in addition to serving on the faculty as an assistant in the speech clinic. Budgeting time and money, he served as chairman of the budget committee, Vice-President of Kappa Delta Pi, plus serving on homecoming committee. A past member of Choral-Aires, Bob belongs also to Acacia social fraternity.

Sue McTeer has represented CSC on the debate squad for three years, and was president of Pi Kappa Delta speech fraternity this year. She belongs to Pi Lambda Theta and was recognized by that group as one of the ten outstanding sophomore women. Sue is secretary of Gold Key, and is past chapter editor of Theta Sigma Upsilon sorority.

This Spur-of-the-Moment wasted no time in clocking up achievements from one end of the campus to the other. Lois Puzon served in Spur as president and junior adviser, and received the Spur scholarship. She also held the student council post of representative at large, and was chairman of the Homecoming Committee, Director of class assemblies, a member of WRMC and vice-president of AWS. Additional honors of this sparkling coed included Pi Lambda Theta membership and the Pi Lambda Theta recognition award for two years.

Smiling Karen Roberts reigned as Sophomore Ball Queen, and has been a Homecoming Queen attendant. She was active as a Spur, and has served on Student Council as chairman of the Campus Coordinating Committee. She has been Orientation Chairman, smoothing out the bumps for freshmen as well as their leaders. Active on campus publications, Karen is a member of Alpha Delta, and has served as Pi Kappa Sigma rush chairman.

An accomplished gymnast, Don Robinson muscled up other achievements on campus as well. A Who's Who veteran, Don served in Blue Key, Student Council, IK, and Delta Phi Delta. With the ease and skill of his noted balancing handstands, he chalked up awards. A member of Tau Kappa Epsilon, this smiling guy also served as sophomore class vice-president.

Jere Rood began his college career as Freshman class president, and was presented with Gold Key's Outstanding Freshman Award that year as well. He has served the student body as a member of student council, Intercollegiate Knights, and Blue Key, and belongs to Canterbury Club and the Ski Club. Jere merited membership in Alpha Delta journalism fraternity by serving as athletic program director, business manager of the Cache la Poudre, and editor of the Mirror. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

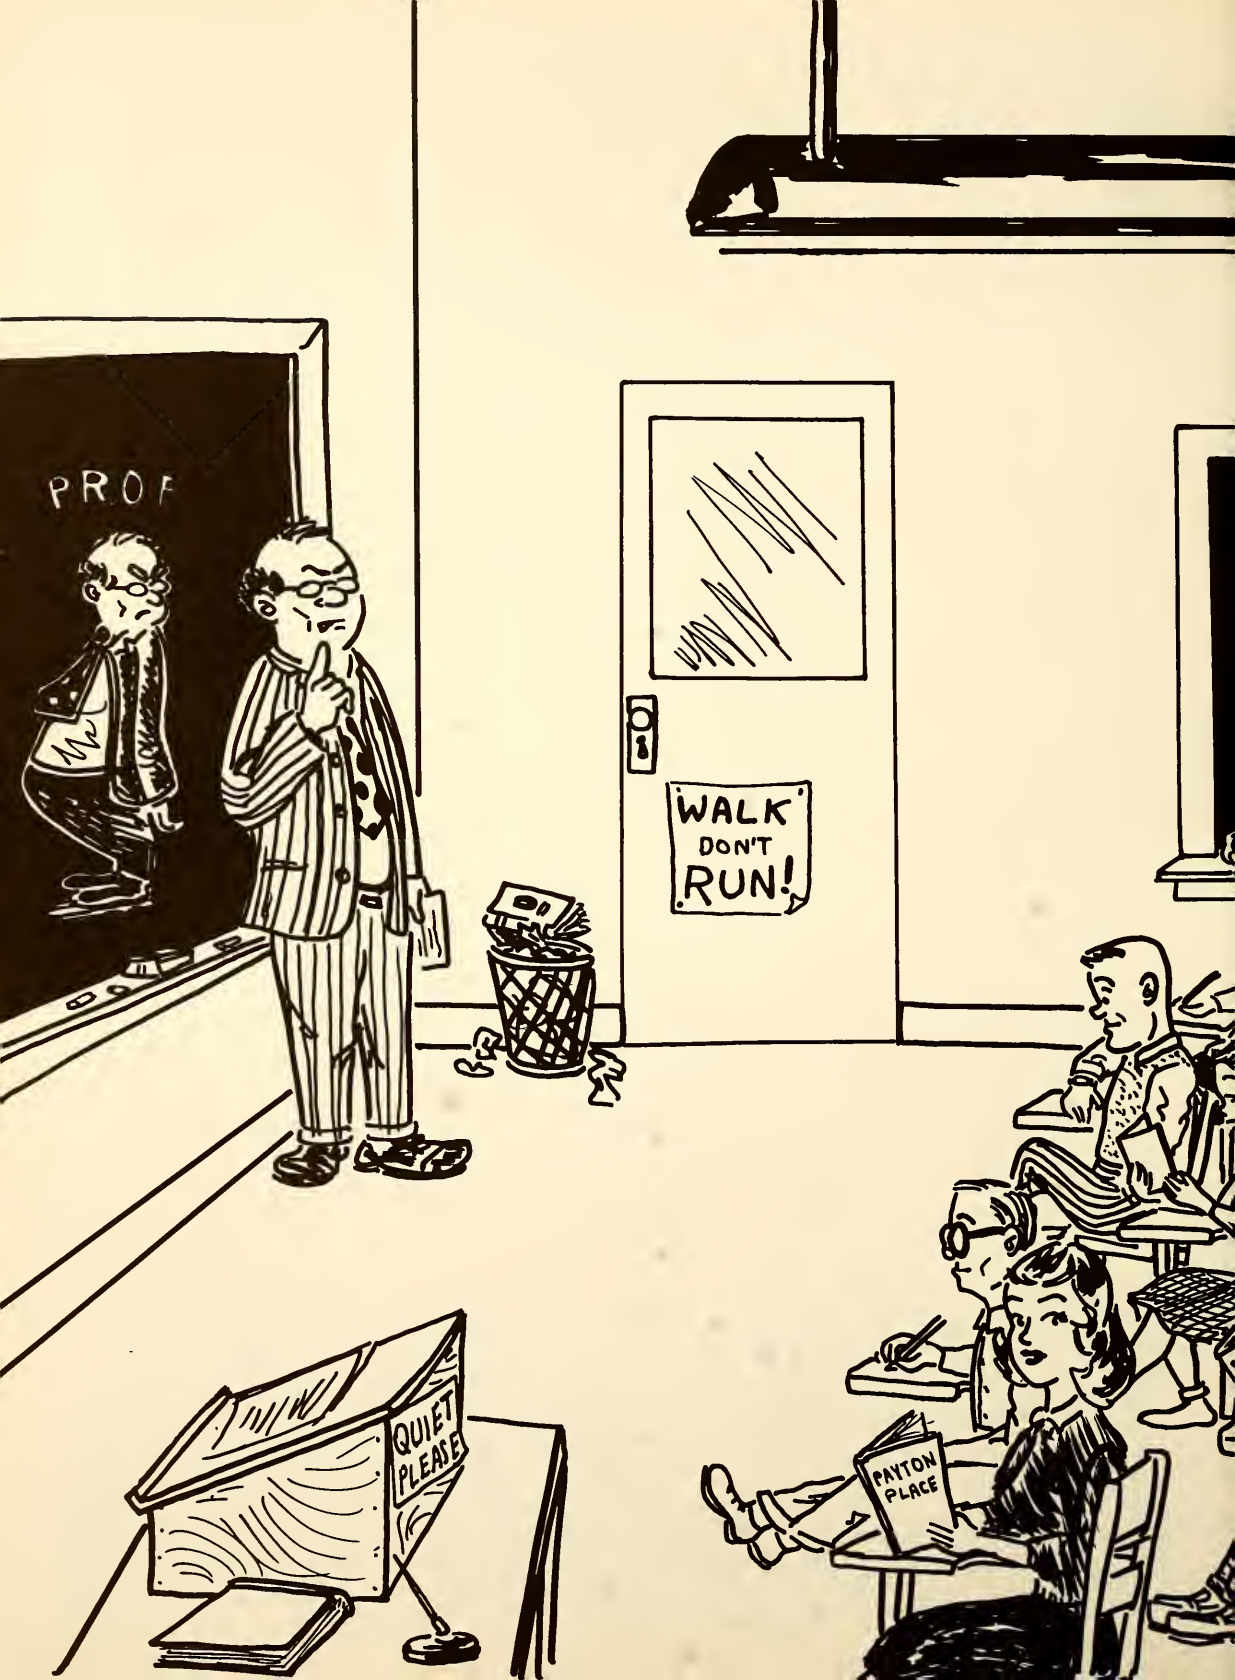

You are reading this book through the courtesy of Judy Strong, able editor of the 1958 Cache la Poudre. Since transferring to CSC in her sophomore year, Judy has been active on campus publications, and is a member of Alpha Delta. She has attended the State Legislative Dinner for two years and belongs to Sigma Alpha Iota music fraternity. Judy is also a member of Pi Lambda Theta and has served as an orientation leader and as scholarship chairman of Pi Kappa Sigma sorority.

As 1957 Homecoming Queen, Mary K. Swen proved that beauty and talent can go hand in hand. Before becoming a member of Pi Lambda Theta, she was recognized by the group by receiving its awards as an outstanding freshman and sophomore woman. Musically-inclined Mary K. is a member of Choral-Aires, and president of the Madrigal Singers, as well as belonging to Delta Omicron. She has been active in student affairs as a Spur, and is a student dorm director and a member of Women's Residence Hall Council. Her sorority is Alpha Sigma Alpha.

An old hand at many an activity, this Who's Who veteran culminated four years of school service by serving as Associated Students President in his senior year. Jerry Tonner was active in student government, as well as mixed concert choir, Madrigal choir, and was Vice-President of Choral-Aires. Various organizations in Jerry's long line of activities included Blue Key, Arnold Air Society, C Club, IK, Phi Mu Alpha, and an honorary membership in Alpha Phi Omega. Never too busy for a smile and a "Hi," Jerry can be classified as one of the campus' outstanding students. His social fraternity is Sigma Chi.

With his feet in the air and his hands on the right track, C-Clubber John Tonelli has copped honors as a gymnast. John was on the ROTC rifle team as a freshman, and has acted as operations officer of Arnold Air Society. He was a member of IK, and has served in various posts on Student Council, and as treasurer of Blue Key. The high point of John's college career came with his election as Ugly Man of 1957.

Associated Women Students

PRESIDENT: Phyllis Rice

VICE-PRESIDENT: Lois Puzon

SECRETARY: Pat Grunkemeyer

TREASURER: Ellie Stonefelt

Fall quarter found frustrated upper-classwomen scurrying about the campus, floundering through directories, and wandering about the labyrinth of the dorms, finding A. W. S. little sisters. Besides the directing of hundreds of freshmen and upper-classmen in the Big and Little Sister program, this active women's association fitted fashionable garb on the Joe and Jane Colleges of our campus for the annual Fall Fashion Show. The council of selected representatives from all women's organizations on campus along with the A. W. S. Activities Committee busily masterminded the Freshman Women's Tea and the Senior Ceremonial. In the Miss C. S. C. contest, the pickin's of the most fair strutted their stuff for the judges with the winner representing C-State in the Miss Colorado contest.

"Why does Elgie insist upon keeping his frog in my bottom drawer?"
 "Should fill 'em and drain 'em tinie come before or after recess?"
 Providing answers to these dilemmas, as well as consolation for those who plan to spend the rest of their lives in grade school, this group gives a lift to interested elementary majors and minors. On the more serious side of a teacher's responsibilities, problems were discussed concerning discipline and curriculum planning. The professional attitude on the part of the school, home, and community were stressed throughout the year.

"Why can't we raise chickens in our rooms for eggs?", or "Could I please have a three o'clock leave, as grunions at Glenmere wash up on the beach at three?" Requests, gripes, and plans, thrown in by reps of the various dorms for their home fronts, made up this year's agenda. Highlights of their program included the social functions with the males, the Christmas dinner, and the scholarship dinner.

You can't take it with you, so they wore their jackets every day. Then after meeting on Hi Bridge, the C club decided to spread culture about the campus by making famous their Da Vinci C's on the low brows of the new arrivals. Fresh were impressed, and beanies began to bob about the campus more frequently. All slams aside, these Cool Cats were the athletes and managers who had put in their time in the big house of sports. Many hours of practice in the selling of peanuts, sport activities, and providing services at various school functions kept these fellas busy. Spring quarter included the annual picnic, and the presentation of freshman awards. The latter went to those plebes selling the most cans of saddle soap, used for polishing upper classmen's C's on their glory rags.

Distributive Education Club

PRESIDENT: John Geron

VICE-PRESIDENT: Paul Forsberg

SECRETARY-TREASURER: Ervin Spahr

On the practical side of bringing home the business bacon, these DE's kept the fire going all year under school matters. Besides handing out free typewriter keys to the first three initiates, these biz booms held professional meetings and activities to promote a better understanding of distributive education in public schools. Speakers from the fields of education and business helped analyze specific problems, thus helping prepare potential teachers in the business area.

The Van Goghs of Guggenheim verified again that the artist and his cult are here to stay. They were seen roaming the campus and the surrounding boondocks, daubing appreciation in many pigments for art exhibits and displays at the Student Union gallery. These perceptive canvas-clutterers swallowed up the sights of Mother Nature and adapted them with great relish, and some mustard and catsup, creating numerous works of modern art. The artist and his aptitudes were admired by the adventurous in the annual Intercollegiate Art Exhibit.

TREASURER: Judith DeLong

Happy Eaters intent upon making more happy eaters from the sleazy type individual are what we have here. The known fact that the dinner table has more magnetic force for the American male than the World Series contributed to interest in the curriculum of the Home Economics Club this year. Besides discussing the attractive preparation of food and the effective wearing of clothes, these home ec'ers contributed to the professional development of the homemaker and the teacher. As a member of the American Home Economic Association, the group took part in various local and state conventions.

Muse

Staff

"Never give up," was the motto of Adelle McDonald and her staff, as they strived to revive the Muse. Boxes for copy were placed everywhere to tempt the literaries on the campus and the response was overwhelming. Hidden talents, frustrations and colored stories sprang forth and the staff was in business. In between selling advertising, rewriting copy, and drawing cartoons these ambitious journalists combed the campus begging for first an office, and then a desk. Don't be confused by the pictures; all their material went across the top of the one desk they managed to secure. The setting—a narrow corridor outside of panel lounge. Their hopeful cry, as the Muse came on the stand was, "Maybe next year we can have a typewriter!"

I must keep smiling . . . I must . . . I must . . .

Somebody must have some ideas.

Well, what next?

Heading the inmates at the local tri-dorm colony were those most honorable academicians putting in their time on this council. The lighter touch on their agenda of activities was provided by the combined meeting with their colleagues of the feminine variety. Social get-togethers included grinding corn, basket-weaving, and hashing dorm problems. Besides these important accomplishments, the fellows helped ol' Saint Nick spread cheer at their annual stag Christmas dinner. Improvements were made for the pads of the dorm dwellers, as these fellows worked all year smoothing out snags of dorm life.

Off-Campus Women

These women who were off this year completed their project of surveying Sputnik from Gunter tower. Besides holding pot-luck suppers in the Student Union, these gals indulged in uniting the groups of females living in off-campus housing. There were interest nights when the interested discussed interest, and panels and speakers discussed the possibility of sending Totem Teddy to the moon. Service projects rounded out their year's agenda.

Science Club

Seen tearing about Cranford were Science Clubbers capturing Uranium 235 and nurturing guppies in the hall showcases. These Einsteinists brewed up enthusiasm in their test tubes for science and its importance today. There were conclaves including the whole department, where members compared notes on frog livers, cultured bacteria, and atomic burps. Informing flickers on confusing topics unraveled the wonders of the scientific world, enlorging the outlook along the H.O line. Lectures, such as "How to Make Your Own Sputnik, in Ten Easy Lessons and Four Hard Ones," as well as other intriguing subjects, were presented by guest speakers.

Six feet on one person, each one going a different way, described the beginning skier. Boated Bjorns found snowflakes felt like thorns as they ventured into the new skiers' instruction program this year. Once obtaining the title of an Advanced Skier, otherwise known as a Snowbunny, they had all six feet going the same way. At the climax the old pros of the ski realm soon had newcomers whipped into shape — wrapped around tree trunks and dangling from ski tows. With an abundant supply of snow and Ski Patrol members, much fun times were had by all.

"The rain in—falls mainly—ahmmmm, the rain in Greeley falls mainly on the campus." Or, "How now, brown car?" These are the "for and against" people who successfully debated this year's topic, "Resolved: That it is better to weave than to spin cotton candy when using real cotton." All rebuttals aside, these talented turbines of the talking team participated in regional, state, and national conclaves of debaters. As members of the Rocky Mountain Forensic League, they sponsored the C.S.C. Debate Tournament, and played host to the High School National Forensic League District Tournament.

"You must be a freshman!" "By George, a sophomore!" Glad cries were heard as Pi Lams recognized underclasswomen at their annual Recognition Tea. These education-minded junior and senior women devoted their time to being outstanding, giving teas and breakfasts, and playing cat's-cradle. Outstanding freshman and sophomore women to the tune of ten from each class were chosen to lead the senior ceremonial.

Spending a business-like year woking on various busy-nesses, these folks contemplated on codicils, prying the most out of a penny, and how to design a dotted line for nobody to sign on. After pawning Cranford Hall to pay for their national dues, these business ed. majors strove to create a feeling of camaraderie among departmental students. The group aimed to stimulate interest in good sales talks and scholarship in the teaching field and the area of business education.

Phi Delta Kappa

Roaming around high in the Mentality Mountains one finds this colony of men of distinction with I.Q.'s of 403 and above. Keeping a discerning finger on the pulse of American education, these thoughtful fellows conducted research in numerous areas. After a buzzing year of teaching chimpanzees to sing and evolving odd-shaped blocks for intelligence tests, they treated themselves to a little light relaxation by analyzing the poetry of T. S. Eliot.

The girls in the little white suits with the purple breastplates were seen charging busily around campus all year long, rescuing various needy causes and making big healthy projects out of them. These snappy sophomores pleased the eyes of football fans with their intricate drill-march patterns at games. After shrieking their lungs out for the encouragement of our valiant athletes, the gals still had enough voice left to warble around schmolzty second-hand endearments for their annual Singing Valentine service.

Dr. Ross pauses in his study, to spend a moment of thought with his daughters.

Dr. William R. Ross, President

Unlike many college presidents, Dr. Ross makes a point of knowing and being known by the students under his administration. In his ten years in office, he has become a familiar figure not only in his office, but all over the campus, and extends his hospitality to his home, where individual students and groups are welcomed graciously by Dr. and Mrs. Ross.

Dr. Ross, known as one of the country's foremost educators, has come up in his field as a coach, public school superintendent, and administrator on the junior college and college levels. Despite the load he carries as president of a rapidly-growing college, he finds time to be an enthusiastic "rock-hound" and cattle fancier. His refreshing sense of humor and solid ideas make him a popular speech-maker.

From a pioneering experiment in education to one of the country's most respected colleges for teacher training—such has been the advancement of CSC in the sixty-eight years since its founding. The college has gained eminence through a long and distinguished line of faculty members, from the six original instructors in 1890-91 to the 180 who now compose the staffs of the numerous departments.

The training of CSC's faculty has been gained in institutions all over the world. In Sorbonne in Paris, Bukh's School of Gymnastics in Ollerup, Denmark, the University of London, and the University of Strasbourg are only a few of the schools attended by some of the twelve instructors who have studied in Europe. Others of the faculty have traveled widely in all parts of Europe, and in the Orient and the Near East. Many who hold advanced degrees still continue their studies in America and abroad.

With a faculty which shows itself by its travels and accomplishments to be dedicated to education as a dynamic, ever-progressing institution, it is no surprise that the college's curriculum is filled with unusual and fascinating courses, as well as the important basic subjects. Courses such as ceramics, institution economics, radio speaking, and aviation and space flight for teachers add to the appeal of college and create a broad range of interests for college students to pursue.

For an institution of its age, CSC has shown a great amount of continuous, vigorous growth. For our college is a young one; members of the Emeritus faculty, such as Miss Elizabeth Kendel, who was appointed in 1893 when the college was only three years old, can recall with pride the development of the college from its infancy to its present size and importance. This growth has been, in great part, a result of the efforts of the faculty—of people such as George W. Frasier, President Emeritus of the college, who was a strong administrator for twenty-three years and who brought the college to its greatest heights; J. DeForest Cline, who developed a small, stumbling music division into one nationally known for its excellence; Earle U. Rugg, Chairman Emeritus of the Division of Education, one of America's great educators; and Helen Langworthy, who over a period of years has developed and maintained one of the finest collegiate Little Theatre groups in the country.

Division of the Sciences

At its inception, the college held classes over a paint store in downtown Greeley, in the old opera house, and in the Unitarian church. Practice teaching was done in the public schools. Cranford Hall was erected in the years between 1891 and 1903, and most of the classes were held in this building for a number of years. It now houses the departments of science and business education. Guggenheim Hall, containing the Arts divisions, was completed in 1912; and Crabbe Hall in 1919. As the school grew, the need was felt for an on-campus training school, which materialized as Kepner Hall. Gunter Hall of Health followed in 1927. After the old library was destroyed by fire, Carter Hall was built to house the library and the Division of the Humanities. In 1953, the offices of administration and the Music and Speech divisions moved into newly-built Frasier Hall, which houses some of the finest facilities in the country for these pursuits. Still growing vigorously, the college has recently added new women's residence halls, and has purchased a large tract of land several blocks from the present campus for purposes of expansion.

Division of the Social Studies

The summer session at CSC affords educators from all over the country a chance to combine profitable graduate study with a Colorado vacation, as well as giving under-graduates a chance to pick up some extra hours. Some sixty per cent of summer students are graduates, and many of these bring their families along for the summer. A full program of classes is given, some of which are not offered during the winter session. Within the next few years, some summer classes will be initiated on CSC's mountain campus in Rocky Mountain National Park. The college and the city of Greeley provide a program of summer activities, including the Fine Arts Festival, concerts in Garden Theatre, square dancing, swimming, and the six summer productions of the Little Theatre of the Rockies.

Don Rau,

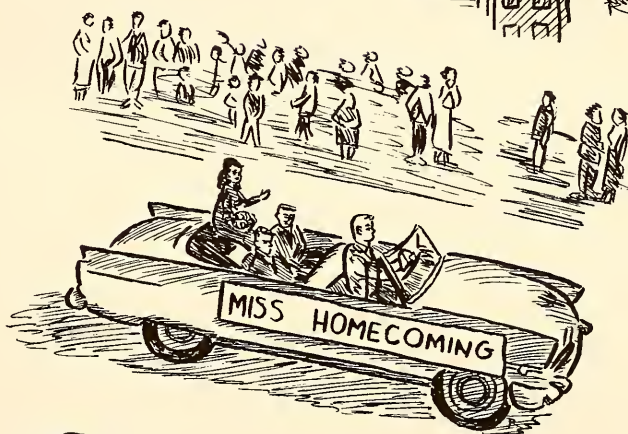

Outstanding Staff Member

Creator of Sam and His Friends, the happy characters who conduct the tour through the pages of this year's annual, Don Rau has spent many an hour at the drawing board as Art Editor of the Cache la Poudre. Don's subtle sense of humor is reflected in his smiling face and conversation, as well as in his amusing cartoons. As art editor of the Muse this year, Don designed the magazine's cover, as well as distributing his talent through its pages. Don is active on campus as a member of TKE, and represents his fraternity on IFC Council. He also serves as president of Men's Residence Hall Council. To Don, as its outstanding member of the year, the Cache la Poudre staff is proud to extend its congratulations, good wishes, and expectations for the best of success to him in the future.

Fall Activities

You can't catch me!

An upper classman always catches his man!

Freshman Week

Several hundred wide-eyed innocents stumbled through the confusion of Freshman Week as the Class of '61 had its first dazed look at CSC. They tried to keep bright, intelligent looks on their faces, only to find that they were expected to fall on them instead, in front of Totem Teddy. Initiated into the ritual of the Green and Lowly, the infants quickly learned to assume the proper thumb-to-beanie position at the call of "Button, Frosh." This happened practically all of the time, so the resounding reply, "Beat Western State!" was a constant sound on campus for a while. They missed seeing Gunter Hall with a balcony, but drowned their disappointment with the thought that they outnumbered practically anybody, and managed to stay alive through a week of matriculation tests, hazing, and getting settled in the dorms. Some of them are still around, which speaks well for their stamina.

Here we are. What do you want?

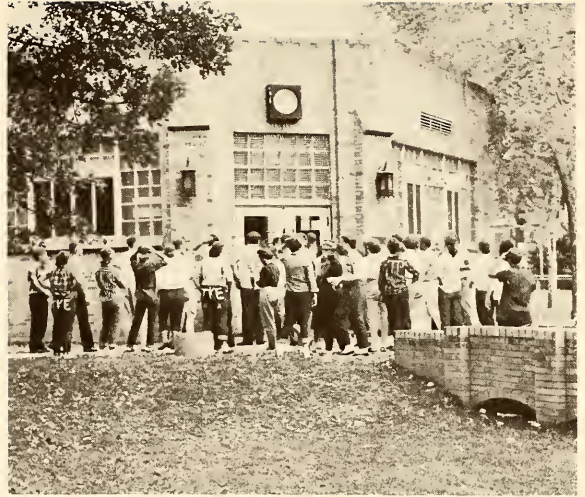

We want you up there!

Come on you guys, let's go get them!

You come out of there.

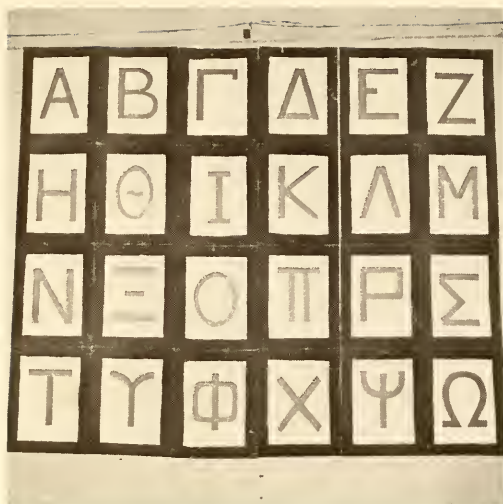

Freshman Week

Oh, go home, you naughty children.

Now you must be punished.

It's all Greek to me.

All-Greek Week

The Greeks blended with the fall trees this year, as they blossomed out in their varicolored blazers and crew hats during Greek Week in September. Various zany activities were climaxed by a Saturday afternoon barbeque in Garden Theater. Everybody from Alpha to Omega fed their faces until they were stuffed, then played a number of loud, hilarious games. After a quick change from their barbeque grundies, Greeks dressed in their best waltzed and jitterbugged as the second annual All-Greek Week came to a finish at a dance in the ballroom.

Get on your mark!

I learned this in P.E. 88.

Sophomore Ball

From the friendly islands of the Caribbean came the theme for this year's sophomore ball, "Jamaica Hello." Swaying among the palm trees and grass huts to the danceable music of the band, the sophomores and their guests could almost feel a tropical breeze and smell the Jamaican hibiscus. Pretty Marcia Dillingham reigned as queen from her throne in the "Little Gross Shack."

It's lots of fun to be a queen.

I'm getting to like it better all the time.

Candidates stop for a minute to smile for Bob.

How could you believe me?

Dr. Grumbine is honored by the barber boys.

Hellzabruin

From a stage fitted out like an old-time vaudeville theatre, a versatile group of performers presented this year's Hellzabruin show to a receptive and admiring audience. From a flirtatious chorus line to a rip-snorting old-time melodrama the production contained all the fun and laughter of an old-fashioned variety show. The presentation of Mary K. Swan as Homecoming queen was received with cheers from the crowd.

Congratulations, Queen Mary K.

Homecoming

House decorations turned soggy and floats really floated as rain fell prodigiously on Homecoming Day, but spirits of undergrads and returning alums weren't dampened as they turned out for the game. The Bears swam through the grass of the football field to a crashing victory over Colorado College. In the evening, dancers moved from one red, white, and blue-decorated dance floor to the other at will, and danced to two different orchestras.

More attendants, Jan Brown and Colleen Estes.

They had fun and spent money.

Upstairs and downstairs and all through the ballroom carnival-goers gathered to enjoy the fun at the annual IK fling. Ivy-League diversions of all kinds were offered, from short-duration weddings to stunts in the stocks. Balls were thrown, silhouette portraits drawn, and much pizza and soft drink was imbibed. High point of the evening was the announcement of J. J. Paolino as Knight of Knights, Roberta Jones as Spur-of-the-Moment, and John Toniolli as Ugly Man.

All sorts of interesting things went on.

"Aw, come on and hit me!"

"You must be kidding!"

Christmas Ball

The famous Woody Herman band was a highlight of the evening.

Christmas trees . . .

An unforgettable climax to Fall Quarter was the Christmas Ball. Enthusiastic fans packed Gunter Gym to enjoy and dance to the famous Woody Herman Orchestra. Enhancing the Winter theme of the formal dance were decorative Christmas trees, with an enormous snowman cheerfully overseeing the festive holiday scene. The Charal-Airs entertained with a spirited session of Christmas carols during intermission.

Football

Colorado State College opened the 1957 football season at Portales, New Mexico, to play Eastern New Mexico University. The talk around the campus was that this was to be the year for the Bears. To the dismay of the C-Staters they were beaten 7-3.

The flu bug hit the Greeley campus and took with it three starters from the Bears football team. This was no excuse as nothing was to be denied the Mountaineers from Gunnison when we were beaten 14-13 by Western State College.

Coach Lindahl's charges finally got rolling the next weekend and rolled right over Adams State College, new member of the Rocky Mountain Conference, 41-25. Through a rainy, muddy afternoon at Goodwill, Oklahoma, the Bears stopped Pankhandle A&M. 20-0.

Homecoming provided another thrilling contest on another rain-soaked field. Colorado College gave the Bears a real scare in the first half, but the C-Staters couldn't let the old grads down. They came back the second half and won the game 20-14.

The next weekend the Bears proceeded to ruin the Colorado School of Mines Homecoming by defeating the Miners 7-6 in another rough, muddy game. Highlands University invaded Greeley, but went back to Las Vegas, New Mexico, to the tune of a 14-0 defeat.

The next weekend came Idaho State College with the No. 1 team in the conference. The Bears put up one of the best efforts of the season but went down to defeat 7-6. The Bears ended the season second in the conference by defeating Peru State Teachers 19-3. This gave C-State a 6-2 conference record for the season.

The Ragpicker explains the state of things as the Countess and her friends listen.

Fall Play

When they plotted to turn the French capital into a jungle of oil derricks, the automatons of Big Business were exterminated and happiness restored to Paris by a charming group of misfits in Jean Giraudoux's satire, "The Madwoman of Chaillot." With her little army, consisting of a ragpicker, a sewerman, and other strange characters, the "mad" Countess Aurelie not only outsmarted the Evil Forces, but sent them to oblivion through a subterranean, endless tunnel.

The Ragpicker takes the witness stand.

"The tunnel goes down—down—down—without an end," says the Sewerman.

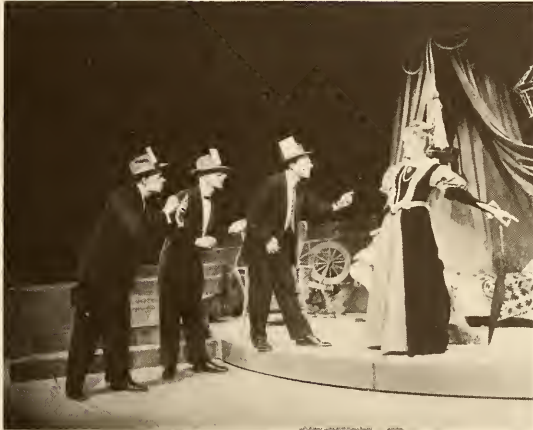

Countess Aurelie forms a plan.

The Countess's crony Madame Josephine.

"Stop your silly bickering!" orders the Countess.

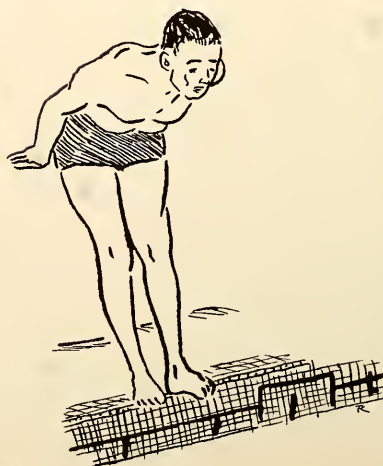

"Tell us about the oil well!" pant the reporters.

Madame Constance burps her dog.

"Wherever there's oil, I can smell it!" the Prospector boasts.

Snyder Snowball

Bonnie crowns Helen as the new royalty.

Last year's queen en route to coronation.

The coeds from Snyder Hall were hostesses to a happy crowd at their annual Snowball. "Snowflake Sonata" was the theme for this evening in a winter wonderland, with greens and shimmering snowflakes ornamenting the ballroom, and the dance-goers enjoyed the delicate pirouettes of a tiny ballerina during intermission. Chasen as Queen of the evening was vivacious Helen Castaneda.

Snowflake selections.

Dance, Ballerina, dance!

... And a dream of a queen.

Military Ball

The ROTC boys traveled a long way into the wild blue yonder this year, and brought down a "Celestial Dream" for their military ball. They found that long hours of drill and hoofing it down to Arnold for ROTC classes had made them agile-footed for waltzing their ladies around the floor. Throned on a cloud and framed in columns of mist, lovely Karma Dobesh was the dreamiest Queen ever, ruling over an enchanted group of subjects.

An Air Force talent; selecting beauties.

Blue Key Sweetheart Ball

"Forward march!"

Lurly gives special congratulations to Mary.

In a time-honored setting of hearts, cherubs, and a Blue Key crest, Mary Ball was crowned this year's Blue Key Sweetheart. The honorary service group hosted a happy crowd of cupids at one of the year's most keenly awaited formal dances. Topped for membership in Blue Key were Clark Milsom and Bob Babb; honorary members, Mary Ball, Colleen Estes, Lois Puzon, Karen Roberts, and Mary K. Swan.

Congratulations for Bob and Clark.

A magic land . . .

Freshmen Ball

The freshmen displayed their inventiveness by giving one of the most attractive dances of the year. In a fairy-land setting of enchanted castles and magic wishing wells, winsome Mary Weingarth was crowned with a garland of tiny rosebuds. The shimmering lights of the castle illuminated an enjoyable evening for everyone.

Greek Follies

This year's Greek Follies variety show presented nine skits of all types, from the madcap to the weird. The theme, Popular Songs, provided the greeks a chance to display their musical talent. First-place winner among the fraternities was Tau Kappa Epsilon, presenting—through the courtesy of your friendly Podge dealer—the Lawrence Belch Show. The Sigma Kappas, using fluorescent green top hats and purple gloves to accentuate their version of "Dry Bones," won first place for sororities. Second-place honors were copped by Pi Kappa Sigma and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Wrestling

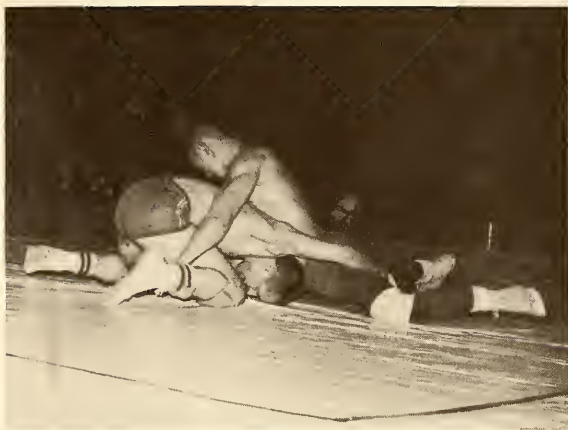

Coch John Hancock's matmen won their 22nd consecutive Rocky Mountain Conference wrestling championship this year. Winning 11 season meets and losing two. The Bears lost only to Iowa University and Oklahoma State University.

Besides winning the conference championship the C-Staters were "Kings of the Rockies" defeating Colorado University, Colorado State University, and the Cowboys from the University of Wyoming.

The Bears have two more meets to round out the season. The A.A.U. meet and the N.C.A.A. meet at Laramie, Wyoming.

Basketball

Coach John Bunn's cagers started the 1957-58 basketball season with many losses, but managed to win the games that counted and came up with a tie for second place in the conference. The Bears won 5 and lost 15 throughout the season.

Although just a bridesmaid in conference play the C-Staters made another type of basketball history this year. Coach Bunn was allowed to run an experiment to try to speed up the game and cut down fouls. The Colorado State freshmen played Colorado Mines frosh using hockey rules. Coach Bunn was, according to Sports Illustrated Magazine, somewhat dubious that the game played this way is faster or that it cuts down on fouls.

The Bears tied with Adams State for second in the conference with Idaho State far out in front as the champion.

Gymnastics

The 1958 Colorado State gymnastics team had another fine year losing only one dual meet throughout the season. The only defeat of the season was at the hands of the Air Force Academy Falcons. This was not too bitter a defeat as the Bears had won a meet from the Academy earlier in the season. The Bears went on to place third at the Nebraska Invitational Meet.

The regional A.A.U. meet will be held in Denver later on this year, but Tony Rossi's gymnasts are going into the meet as the defending champs. Mr. Rossi is to be commended on this year's fine team and for elevating the sport of gymnastics on the CSC campus.

Swimming

The perennially powerful Bear Swim Team splashed on to its fifth straight Rocky Mountain Conference championship in its last season under the guidance of Dr. William (Bill) Cresswell. Cresswell retired following one of the most successful seasons in the team's history. The Mermen defeated the team from the University of Colorado for the first time since the teams have been in competition. Showing much depth, the team looks even more formidable in the near future. Stars like freshman Clint Summerfield and sophomores Bill Koplar and Don Reid gave the team the needed spark to break five records in the conference meet.

Winter Play

Technical director Welby Wolfe's turntable set on the revolving stage provided the background for the plots and connivings of a hilarious group of characters in "The Solid Gold Cadillac." Laura Partridge, the deceptively naive retired actress, brought confusion, havoc, and finally downfall to the four ugly directors of the General Products Corporation. Things looked black for awhile, with the Four Uglies contriving for their own interests, but all ended well. Miss Partridge became an executive, her old maid secretary caught a man, and they all lived happily ever after—until the next stockholder's meeting!

Miss Shotgraven watches, horrified, as Miss Partridge dictates a note to the milkman.

"May I ask a question?"

"Why don't you just quit?" asks Miss Partridge.

Phyllis Rice was crowned queen of last spring's Junior Prom, as a crowd of spruced-up and shimmering collegians enjoyed the big, big formal. The queen's platform in Gunter Gym was artfully decorated with streamers and delicate silver globes, which also provided appropriate background for Claude Gordon's orchestra.

Lei Dance

The balmy atmosphere of the Pacific Islands came to C.S.C. as the Hawaiian Club again sponsored their exotic Lei Dance. Jessica Kupau made the perfect South Sea Island queen of the revels, seated in a huge frothy sea—shell. Spring weather was a welcome complement to this tropical evening, the last major dance of the year.

"... a huge frothy sea—shell."

TKE: First place.

Song Fest

The Alpha Sigma Alphas did it again, proving their musical proficiency by capping first-place honors at Song Fest for the third year in a row. A spirited rendition of "June Is Bustin' Out All Over" put them on top for this year. In the fraternity division Tau Kappa Epsilon took the trophy with their arrangement of "Aura Lee." The Sig Eps took second place among fraternities and Tri Sigma and Pi Kappa tied for second in the ladies division.

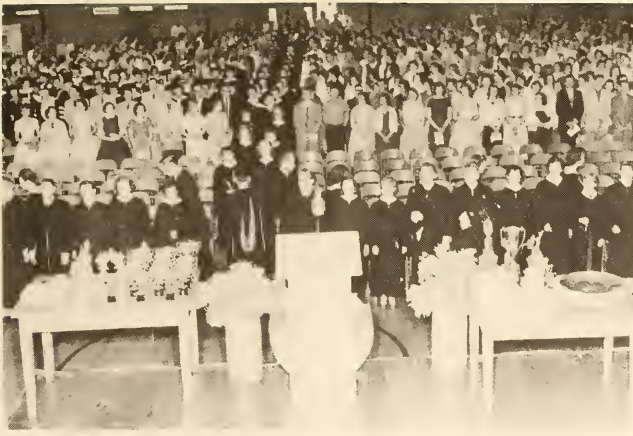

Alpha Sigs: First place.

Invocation.

Recognition of those who tried the hardest for all kinds of honors is made on Insignia Day. After an impressive procession of Seniors preceded by the faculty in their distinctively-colored hoods, the assembled crowd applauded the presentation of awards, from Gold Key's pick of the outstanding men to the Irene Jesser Drama Scholarship. President Bob Frykhalm turned over the joys and headaches of his office to incoming prexy Jerry Tanner, and Pat Brown, as Miss Cache la Poudre, was presented with the first copy of the annual. The final get-together—for the Seniors, at least—broke up and hurried out to Garden Theatre in the rain, eager for their own copies of the Cache la Poudre, which were being distributed there.

George Sanderson's desk wood will be placed in the ballroom floor.

Congratulations, Millie, for a job well done.

Bob hands the gavel to Jerry.

A happy crowd.

Toward the end of Spring Quarter, the Seniors can be recognized by the odd looks on their faces, looks partly of relief for making it at last, partly of dazed confusion at all the rat-racing that goes with preparations for graduation. On the Big Day, the honored ones cover their nervousness with caps and gowns, and march up a brief flight of steps for the sheepskin which means that four years of cramming for tests, shooting the breeze in Bru, Bearslides, required courses, and standing in line for registration, are at an end. The graduates show their folks around the campus with the casual air of those who know their way around, taking proud mothers and fathers over the paths that they have helped to wear in the lawns. Then the suitcases are packed into cars to be taken away for the last time, and another batch of shiny-eyed young teachers is pushed out into the big, old, nasty world.

Coach John Hancock's cindermen broke even this season winning two and losing two in the dual and triangular meets. The Bears came through at the end of the season by winning the Rocky Mountain Conference meet by ten points.

Men deserving mention for their efforts this past season are Jim Cox, first place in the Conference in the 100 and 220 yard dashes; Al McWilliams, who won the Conference 440 yard dash title; Oliver Bell, winner of the 880 yard run, and Ken Rice, broad jumping ace for the Conference.

Colorado State netmen enjoyed a very successful 1957 tennis season. Coach Ted Oppelt's charges won six and lost one match in season's play. This is the finest record for the Bears in many seasons.

Rick Hulme was the outstanding netman for C-State, winning all of his single matches except one. His only defeat came in the conference meet in which he placed second. Rick then teamed with Ken McFerren to place second in the conference doubles matches.

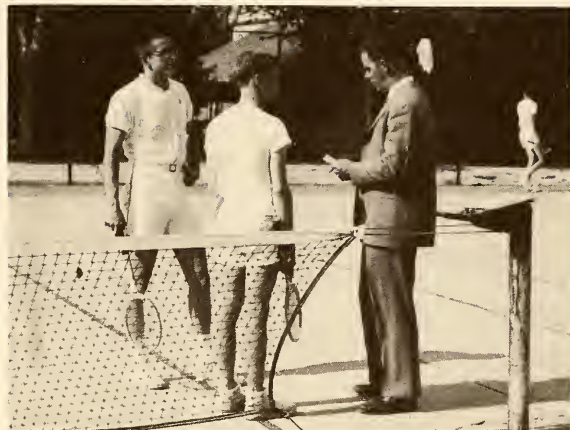

The Bears ended the season with second place in the Rocky Mountain Conference losing to Colorado College 18 to 16 in the conference meet.

Coach Dr. L. C. Butler had his usual fine season in 1957. The baseball-conscious Bears split with the Cowboys from Wyoming University, and then went to the National playoffs for the seventh time in the history of Colorado State College. The Bears have gone to the National Collegiate Baseball playoffs more times than any other college in the nation being followed closely by Texas A & M College.

Dr. Butler should be commended for his work with baseball at C-State and National Collegiate baseball. He has literally made the Bears from Colorado State College the college baseball power of the Nation.

Spring Play

Presented last spring, "The Devil's Disciple" climaxed a year of excellent presentations by the Little Theatre of the Rockies. The bitterness and comedy of the Dudgeon family during the last crucial days of the American Revolution kept audiences entranced on the two evenings of the production. The excitement of a near-hanging was transcended by the dramatic release of the victim as Bernard Shaw's wonderful characters were brought convincingly to life under Dr. Helen Langworthy's expert direction.

Bitterness dogs the Dudgeon family.

The up-and-coming Tri Sigmas develop character and scholarship through programs such as their Harmony Hours and Charm School. "Tri Sigma serves children" is the purpose of the sorority's social service projects, the chief of which gives financial aid to the University Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill, North Carolina. Local service projects are also carried out. The Tri Sigs take part in Greek Follies, Song Fest, and other campus activities, and a pleasant and profitable time is had by all at the Iota Chapter house.

Theta Sigma Upsilon

Room to spread all over in, is a pleasant asset for this group. Active on this campus for more than thirty years, the Theta Sigs run busily around their huge living room giving parties and working on various campus activities. A program tea and the spring Rose Fest in honor of the seniors are two high points of the year. This year, the Thetas took part in Song Fest and a mountain party and dinner dance, as well as other activities.

The Acacias rode triumphantly through Homecoming aboard the Little Engine that Could—and Did—help them cop the Sweepstates trophy this year. Choosing their fraternity sweetheart was a pleasant duty, as were plans for dances and other sociable undertakings. Living up to the high academic standards of the national organization, Acacias strive toward the attainment of knowledge, education, and training.

The year-old Upsilon chapter of AKL continued to be a driving force among CSC's Greek groups. Their big, jolly De-totemed Teddy has become an outstanding resident of the Student Union. Taking part in various functions on campus, the AKL's maintained an enthusiastic group spirit and furthered their ideals of character, scholarship, leadership, and self-support.

Sigma Chi

"We made it!" was the cheer of ex-Delta Psis this year as they became charter members of Epsilon Phi chapter of Sigma Chi national fraternity. Learning new rituals and procedures in consequence of going national occupied a lot of time, but the fellows didn't let down on their ideals of long standing, the promotion of scholarship and fellowship within the group. They were often seen circulating among the coeds, too, in search of potential Sweethearts of Sigma Chi's.

Theta Xi

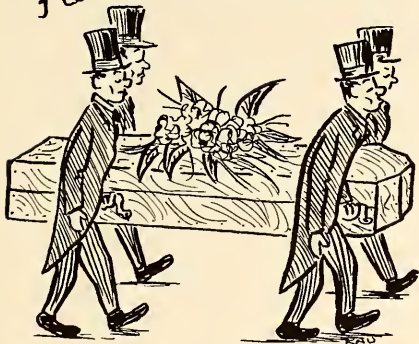

The Theta Xi's biggest philanthropic project consists of seeing that orphaned turtles get good homes, food and an athletic education, and fostering a healthy spirit of competition in the little fellows by means of their annual Turtle Race. The fraternity provides its members the chance to achieve high scholastic standing, leadership qualities, and group life and social participation.

Stray Greeks

Wandered-off members of greek groups that are not represented on this campus find the fun and companionship of a coeducational Greek organization in Stray Greeks. The group's activities include monthly dinners, bearslides, and activities among the group itself. Several of its members have become affiliated with chapters on this campus as social members.
